

2019

Bergamo, Italy

Pharmaceuticals

A company active in the production of APIs (active pharmaceutical ingredients). We have supplied temperature control units for production reactors, both for explosive environments, hence ATEX certified, and for safe atmospheres. Heating with steam, typical of these applications, requires construction according to PED.

The extreme management of temperature levels, especially downwards, requires equipment that can also work at negative temperatures.

We have implemented remote control systems to monitor not only the operation and operating parameters of the units, but also the need for any predictive maintenance.