

2019

Verona, Italy

Rubber and Plastics

In the production of plastic resins, the storage of products that are then mixed to obtain the finished products is important.

Specifically, we have developed heating units, with electric resistances and remote monitoring system, so that we can optimise consumption, depending on seasonality and actual product loads inside the tanks.