

2019 Italy and Romania Textile

A world-leading manufacturer of textile looms.

About fifteen years ago, we began jointly investigating how to cool the loom oil in such a way as to use as little water as possible, together with a temperature that would allow the use of free cooling systems.

Since then, all looms in the water-cooled series have been equipped with our brazed plate heat exchangers.

The design made it possible to develop a special type of plate, resistant to the pulsating pressures typical of these systems, which offers maximum reliability combined with very high efficiency.
